

Subject Specific Training

Subject specific training is a new addition to the Net Insight training portfolio, which allows a competent staff access to Net Insight experts on topics for which they need extra assistance.

While the training program at Net Insight offers a comprehensive set of courses, which allow for in depth product and technology knowledge for all levels of a company organization, the subject specific training offers a range of modules each individually designed as a freestanding course. As always, training can be offered in a variety of different formats. These are classroom training, via webcast or through self-study online. All participating students receive the relevant literature in electronic format.

The courses at the Net Insight Academy covers the entire portfolio of Nimbra products. In addition, for an homogenous training group with participants from the same customer, the modules can be customized to focus on the products that are most relevant for the group.
